Common Questions

What documents are required for a civil marriage ceremony?

The applicants are required to obtain an Ontario marriage licence before the civil marriage ceremony. The licence is valid for ninety (90) days following the date of issue. A marriage licence may be obtained from the Town of Pelham or any municipality in Ontario. To reserve the date and time of the civil marriage ceremony, the applicants must complete and return a pre-ceremony questionnaire with the applicable payment to the Clerk's Office.

Who may officiate the wedding?

In the Town of Pelham, the Clerk and their designate(s) are appointed Officiants and may perform civil marriage ceremonies.

Can a friend or family member officiate the civil marriage ceremony?

In Ontario, a Judge or Justice of the Peace, Town or City Clerk and/or Religious Official may perform a civil marriage ceremony. A friend or family member who does not hold the above title cannot perform a legal ceremony. Subject to the approval of the Clerk/Designate, a friend and/or family member may join in the formal ceremony to perform a reading.

Can we get married on the weekend?

Yes. Officiants may conduct civil marriage ceremonies outside regular business hours (Monday to Friday, 8:30 am to 4:30 pm) upon request. Additional fees will apply to ceremonies held off-site or outside of regular business hours. Confirmation of civil marriage ceremonies held off-site or outside of regular business hours shall be subject to the availability of the Officiant.

Does the Town of Pelham offer "same-day service" for a ceremony?

The Town of Pelham does not offer same-day service for civil marriage ceremonies. Requests should be made a minimum of four (4) weeks prior to the ceremony date, or as may be agreed upon depending on the availability of the Officiant. The Town of Pelham will not issue a marriage licence the same day as the civil marriage ceremony.

Common Questions Cont'd

Are witnesses required for a civil marriage ceremony?

Yes, all celebrants require two (2) witnesses present during the ceremony. Witnesses must be at least fourteen (14) years of age and speak English, or have a translator present. The Town will only supply witnesses for civil marriage ceremonies held on Town property.

May we include a reading from the Bible or a blessing during the ceremony?

The Officiant may not perform any type of religious ceremony in keeping with the spirit of the Marriage Act, which requires ceremonies to be "non-denominational". The celebrants may have someone other than the Officiant provide a religious reading or blessing.

Who registers our civil ceremony?

After the ceremony, all parties must sign the statement of marriage, record of solemnization (to be retained by the celebrants) and the Town's civil marriage ceremony record. The Officiant will ensure all documentation is forwarded to the Office of the Registrar General in Thunder Bay within two (2) business days to register your marriage with the Province of Ontario.

Marriage Certificate and Name Change

Receiving a Marriage Certificate from Service Ontario

A Marriage Certificate is the legal record of a marriage. It lists the date, location of the marriage and the names of the people who were married.

Before you can apply to obtain a Marriage Certificate, the marriage needs to be registered by the Province of Ontario. The officiant who performed the marriage will do this by sending a complete and signed marriage licence to the Office of the Registrar immediately following the ceremony. The registration process takes approximately 6-8 weeks after the license is filed; once processed, a Marriage Certificate can be ordered.

A Record of Solemnization is not the same thing as a Marriage Certificate.

To order a Marriage Certificate, wait 6 to 8 weeks following the ceremony and then complete the forms available at www.serviceontario.ca

Obtaining a Marriage Certificate is not required; however, individuals need this document to:

- Provide legal proof that they are married
- To apply for certain social benefits
- Settle an estate
- To apply for a change of last name

Changing Your Last Name After Marriage

It is not required to change your last name after marriage. A new name can be assumed straight away; however, for changes to official documents, a Marriage Certificate will be required for proof of marriage.

Should you or your spouse wish to change your/their last name, go to the Service Ontario website for more information.

www.ontario.ca/page/change-your-last-name

Reading 1

I Will Be Here

If in the morning when you wake,
If the sun does not appear, I will be here.
If in the dark we lose sight of love,
Hold my hand and have no fear, I will be here.
I will be here,
When you feel like being quiet,
When you need to speak your mind I will listen.
Through the winning, losing, and trying we'll be together, and I will be here.
If in the morning when you wake,
If the future is unclear, I will be here.
As sure as seasons were made for change,
Our lifetimes were made for years, I will be here.
I will be here,
And you can cry on my shoulder,
When the mirror tells us we're older.
I will hold you, to watch you grow in beauty,
And tell you all the things you are to me.
We'll be together and I will be here.
I will be true to the promises I've made,
To you and to the one who gave you to me.
I will be here.

True Love

Love is patient, love is kind.

It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud.

It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking,
it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs.

Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth.

It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

Reading 3

Blessing of the Hands

These are the hands of your partner, young and strong and full of love, holding your hands as you promise to love each other today, tomorrow, and forever.

These are the hands that will work alongside yours as together you build your future.

These are the hands that will hold you and comfort you in grief and uncertainty.

These are the hands that will countless times wipe the tears from your eyes, tears of sorrow and joy.

These are the hands that will hold your family as one.

These are the hands that will give you strength.

And these are the hands that even when wrinkled and aged, will still be reaching for yours, still giving you the same unspoken tenderness with just a touch.

Reading 4

Love is Friendship Caught Fire

Love is friendship caught fire;
it is quiet, mutual confidence, sharing and forgiving.
It is loyalty through good and bad times.
It settles for less than perfection, and makes allowances for human weaknesses.
Love is content with the present, hopes for the future, and does not brood over the past.
It is the day-in and day-out chronicles of irritations, problems, compromises, small disappointments, big victories, and working toward common goals.
If you have love in your life, it can make up for a great many things you lack.
If you do not have it, no matter what else there is, it is not enough.

Reading 5

Excerpt from "The Art of a Good Marriage"

A good marriage must be created.
In marriage the "little" things are the big things.
It is never being too old to hold hands.
It is remembering to say, "I love you" at least once a day.
It is never going to sleep angry.
It is having a mutual sense of values, and common objectives.
It is standing together and facing the world.
It is forming a circle that gathers in the whole family.
It is speaking words of appreciation, and demonstrating gratitude in thoughtful ways.
It is having the capacity to forgive and forget.
It is giving each other an atmosphere in which each can grow.
It is a common search for the good and the beautiful.
It is not only marrying the right person - it is being the right partner.

The Key to Love

The key to love is understanding.
The ability to comprehend not only the spoken word,
but those unspoken gestures,
the little things that say so much by themselves.

The key to love is forgiveness;
to accept each other's faults and pardon mistakes,
without forgetting, but with remembering what you learn from them.

The key to love is sharing.
Facing your good fortunes as well as the bad, together;
both conquering problems, forever searching for ways to intensify your happiness.

The key to love is giving without thought of return,
but with the hope of just a simple smile,
and by giving in but never giving up.

The key to love is respect,
realizing that you are two separate people, with different ideas;
that you don't belong to each other,
that you belong with each other, and share a mutual bond.

The key to love is inside us all.
It takes time and patience to unlock all the ingredients that will take you to its threshold;
it is the continual learning process that demands a lot of work, but the rewards are more than worth the effort - and that is the key to love.

The Promises of Marriage

Marriage is a promise of companionship,
Of having someone to share all of life's experiences.

Marriage does not promise that there will not be any rough times,
Just the assurance that there will always be someone who cares and will help you through to better times.

Marriage does not promise eternal romance, just eternal love and commitment.
Marriage cannot prevent disappointments, disillusionment, or grief,
But it can offer hope, acceptance and comfort.

Marriage can't protect you from making individual choices
Or shelter you from the world,
But it will help to reassure you that there is someone by your side,
Who truly cares when the world hurts you and makes you feel vulnerable.
Marriage offers the promise that there will be someone waiting to listen, to console, to inspire.

Marriage is the joining of two people who share the promise that only marriage can make – To share the sunshine and the shadows and to experience a richer, more fulfilling life because of it.

Union

You have known each other from the first glance of acquaintance to this point of commitment. At some point, you decided to marry. From that moment of yes, to this moment of yes, indeed, you have been making commitments in an informal way. All of those conversations that were held in a car, or over a meal, or during long walks – all those conversations that began with, “When we’re married”, and continued with “I will” and “you will” and “we will” – all those late night talks that included “someday” and “somehow” and “maybe” – and all those promises that are unspoken matters of the heart. All these common things, and more, are the real process of a wedding.

The symbolic vows that you are about to make are a way of saying to one another, “You know all those things that we’ve promised, and hoped, and dreamed – well, I meant it all, every word.”

Look at one another and remember this moment in time. Before this moment, you have been many things to one another – acquaintance, friend, companion, lover, dancing partner, even teacher, for you have learned much from one another these past few years. Shortly you shall say a few words that will take you across a threshold of life, and things between you will never quite be the same.

For after today you shall say to the world – This is my husband. This is my wife.

Statement of Intent 5

Do you _____ promise to love _____ and respect her/him/them, to share your life and your dreams, to build with her/him/them a home that is a place of love, happiness, commitment and growth?

Ceremony Conclusion

Conclusion 1

_____ and _____, I wish you a long life, happiness and prosperity. May the vows that you made to each other today sustain you forever.

Conclusion 2

As you enter upon your marriage, let your relationship be one of truth and understanding between you both; respect the confidences of your partner in this marriage, and consider that as the world gives nothing freely, neither will your marriage yield you more than you give into it. May you enjoy length of days, fulfilment of hope and peace and contentment of mind as day by day you fulfill the terms of this commitment you have made with one another.

Conclusion 3

Today you have pledged yourselves to a lifetime of faithfulness and caring for one another. May this be a commitment made in love, kept in faith, lived in hope and eternally renewed. As you stand before us, it is our hope that you will go through life loving, trusting, and caring for one another, completely and forever.

An Ancient First Nations Blessing

Now you will feel no rain, for each of you will be shelter for the other.
Now you will feel no cold, for each of you will be warmth to the other.
Now there will be no loneliness, for each of you will be companion to the other.
Now you are two persons, but there are three lives before you: his/her/their life, her/his/their life and your life together.
Go now to your dwelling place to enter into your days together.
And may all your days be good and long upon the Earth.

The Elements of Love

May your Love be like the earth
Rich, natural, and deeply rooted
Strong as rock yet soft as sand
Always growing and always patient
May your love be like fire
Passionate, intense and energetic
A flame that never dies
As radiant as the morning sun
And as warm as an evening embrace
May your love be like water
Moving, constantly changing
Never still, never stagnant
As vast as the ocean
And as fresh as a spring's rain
May your love be like air
The sharing of dreams, thoughts and emotions
Always fragrant, always carefree
Found in the breeze of a whisper
Or in the breath of a kiss
May your love be like all four elements
Physically, emotionally, mentally and spiritually intertwined
To create the perfect balance
And to craft the perfect ribbon
For to bind these two hearts into one.

Poem

Together in marriage you will bring out the best in each other.
You will learn from each other and grow from your differences.
You will be two individuals living your own lives with each other as one.
Together in marriage you will be stronger, more sensitive,
More aware, more knowing and more at peace
Than you are individually.
You will be better people.
Together in marriage your love will give understanding
To all that you do because you will share your ideas,
Goals, and frustrations.
And you will always have someone to support whatever you say and do.
Together in marriage
You will be able to achieve all that you want in life.

Conclusion 9

May your marriage bring you all the exquisite excitements a marriage should bring, and may life grant you also patience, tolerance, and understanding.

May you always need one another – not so much to fill your emptiness as to help you to know your fullness.

A mountain needs a valley to be complete; the valley does not make the mountain less, but more; and the valley is more a valley because it has a mountain towering over it.

So let it be with you and you.

May you need one another, but not out of weakness.

May you want one another, but not out of lack.

May you entice one another, but not compel one another. May you embrace one another, but not out encircle one another.

May you succeed in all important ways with one another, and not fail in the little graces.

May you look for things to praise, often say, "I love you!" and take no notice of small faults.

If you have quarrels that push you apart, may both of you hope to have good sense enough to take the first step back.

May you enter into the mystery which is the awareness of one another's presence – no more physical than spiritual, warm and near when you are side by side, and warm and near when you are in separate rooms or even distant cities.

May you have happiness, and may you find it making one another happy.

May you have love, and may you find it loving one another.

Conclusion 10

Sooner or later we begin to understand that love is more than verses on valentines and romance in the movies.

We begin to know that love is here and now, real and true, the most important thing in our lives.

For love is the creator of our favourite memories and the foundation of our fondest dreams.

Love is a promise that is always kept, a fortune that can never be spent, a seed that can flourish in even the most unlikely of places.

And this radiance that never fades, this mysterious and magical joy, is the greatest treasure of all – one known only by those who love.
